Hello

DZC Consulting provides archaeological, architectural history, and cultural resource management for all manner of projects.

For bridge projects, cultural resource support is often for architectural history evaluations, or for mitigating archaeology sites that often lie under and around bridge footings.

Although this contract does not call specifically for cultural support, we also provide on-call services for accidental/unexpected archaeology discoveries during construction. Our employees are OSHA Construction Safety Certified.

To that end, I have enclosed our rate sheet and capabilities for your reference. We would like to be your DBE choice for cultural support.

Please call if you are interested in discussing future projects that do call specifically for cultural or tribal resource support.

Best,
