

From the Archives

A planting project on a section of the Hollywood Freeway (part of U.S. 101) was a major undertaking in June 1960. The strip being landscaped was in the Cahuenga Pass area, just north of what is now Universal Studios. Note the mileage sign in which the distances are given in decimals. The planted strip still exists today. Photo by Sat Yoshizato

